A: There is now a tool by Riot to make your crosshair color and size match your skin tone. In the launcher, you can click on "Play" and then "Add-ons". In the page that shows up, scroll down to "Custom Crosshair" and select "Nightfall". You can then customize your crosshair's color and size. This tool is nice because it allows you to choose your skin tone for your crosshair. A: If you are using Valorant: Click on the gear icon in the upper left. Select addons. In the page that shows up, scroll down to 'Custom Crosshair' and select 'Nightfall'. After you have done this, you can see the color options available. You can also use the customization menu. Click the gear icon again and select customization. You should see a menu with four options. The one you want should be available. Pick the color of your choice and save your settings for next match. Q: Apache 2.4 and PHP 7 I'm trying to upgrade my CentOS 7 VM to Apache 2.4 and PHP 7. I need the PHP 7 as I have to run some legacy PHP code and the PHP 7 support for HHVM does not have the features I require. I have installed both Apache and PHP 7 using the latest versions of RPM and made sure the IUSR and IIS_IUSRS permissions are set correctly. I have also made sure that the following rules are in the apache.conf AddHandler mod_php7.php7 php7.force_redirect = off php7.additional_apxs_options = -L /usr/lib64/httpd/modules php7.user_dir_module = disabled php7.conf_dir = enabled My issue is that when I restart Apache I receive the following error: AH00526: Syntax error on line 263 of /etc/httpd/conf/httpd.conf: Django settings module missing This is how my site conf file looks: DocumentRoot /var/www/html ServerName localhost Alias /static /var/www/html/
